Commies In New Proposal

Reds Say They Have New Topic to Discuss With Allied Truce Negotiators at Meet

MUNSAN (P) — The Communists said late tonight they have "an important subject to discuss" when Red and Allied truce negotiators meet in a few hours in a full-dress crisis session that may determine the fate of an armistice.

This was the only hint of the reason behind the Red request for a meeting at 11 a. m. Saturday (8 p. m. Friday, CST) at Panmun-jom.

There has been speculation the negotiators might approve final truce details or that the Reds may protest President Syngman Rhee's defiant release of about 26,000 anti-Red Korean prisoners.

The Red comment came in a Chinese language broadcast by the official Peiping Radio heard in Tokyo. It said Gen. Nam Il, chief Red delegate, called the meeting because the Communists "have an important subject to discuss."

The Red radio earlier accused the U. S. and South Korea of collaborating to free the prisoners.

The armistice draft appears ready for signature as soon as Chinese, English and Korean translations are approved.

Observers predicted Rhee's arbitrary action probably would not block signing of the truce, but they feared trouble later when the Allies must account for and hand over Red prisoners.

And there is the possibility Rhee could expand this first open revolt against the U. N., upsetting the whole agreement.

The UNC has assured the Reds it is taking "every step" to recapture the escaped prisoners, but it has found only a handful. The task appeared almost hopeless as the prisoners hid in homes with the blessing of the South Korean government.

Meanwhile, Rhee made public a letter he wrote President Eisenhower Wednesday in which he apparently rejected Eisenhower's offer of economic and military aid and a promise to negotiate a security pact if South Korea would accept a truce.

Rhee pleaded with Eisenhower to find some other answer than a "death warrant" armistice.

"The U. N. is now putting pressure on us . . ." he said, "and the enemy in this matter of armistice terms."

He accused the U. S. and the U. N. of backing down on early war objectives of "a united, independent and democratic Korea and the punishment of the aggressors." He said "the counsels of appeasement" have turned America to "an open confession of weakness . . . that it had never been intended to unify Korea by war."

As the critical full-dress session approached, there were these other developments:

1. The Reds called off Friday's meeting of interpreters believed working on the armistice draft at Panmunjom.

2. The official Red Peiping radio accused Rhee of releasing the prisoners in order to impress them into the South Korean army and added the "Americans deliberately connived" by taking no measures to prevent the breakouts. It also said the sincerity of the U. S. is "indeed put to an acid test."

3. Communist army engineers abruptly stopped construction of a building at Panmunjom which some observers thought might be used for the truce signing ceremony. There was no explanation.

4. Allied troops continued preparations for prisoner exchange and top Allied officers who will serve on a joint Red-Allied military commission after been in the armistice arrived in Munsan.

The actual prisoner agreement makes no mention of numbers but says all prisoners opposing return to their homeland will be turned over to a repatriation commission within 60 days.

The UNC has told the Reds about 47,000 anti-Red prisoners would go to the commission.

If the Allied command fails to meet this number, the Communists possibly could hold out on Allied prisoners.

The Reds have been aware of the friction between the UNC and the South Korean government. However, both sides have gone along steadily toward a truce agreement, apparently in the belief it is up to the Allies to make South Korea fall in line.

County Court Lets Contracts For King Bill Road Repairs

Thursday morning the Pettis County Court received bids and let contracts for work on county roads under the King Bill road program at an estimated $51,500.

The projects are referred to by code number 53, representing the year started and completed, and the following number is the designation of the specific improvement.

Project 53-8, which calls for improvement of a 3.25 mile strip four miles west of Spring Fork, was let to the Colvin and Franken Construction Co., for $1,000 per yard.

Project 53-9, calls for improvement of a 3.5 mile strip one-fourth mile north of Beaman and was let to the Colvin and Franken Construction Company for $1,200 per yard.

Project 53-15, which calls for improvement of a 3.1 mile strip one mile east of Newland, was let to the T and O Lime and Rock Company for $2.35 per yard.

Project 53-16, calls for improvement of a 2.6 mile strip from Postal to the Saline County line was let to the H. A. Harms Construction Company for $1.90 per yard.

Project 53-17, which calls for improvement of a 2.3 mile strip just west of Newland, was let to the T and O Lime and Rock Company for $2.10 per yard.

The final project 53-18, which calls for improvement of a three-mile strip just east of U.S. Highway 65 at the Hughesville turn off, was let to the T and O Lime and Rock Company for $1.90 per yard.

The work will be completed within several months.

The bids, which were due Thursday, were opened at 10 a. m. Thursday morning and read to the court by County Clerk Jim Green in the presence of a number of the contractors, who had submitted bids for the work.

26,000 Anti-Red PWs Free

New, Bloody Mass Breaks Made Today As South Koreans Defy UN Command

SEOUL (P)—New and bloody mass breaks from Allied stockades today swelled to nearly 26,000 the legion of anti-Communist war prisoners liberated in South Korea's bold defiance of the U. N. Command.

More than 1,800 bolted from five prison camps and a hospital last night and early today on the heels of those ordered released Wednesday by President Syngman Rhee of the Republic of Korea.

U. N. Command headquarters in Tokyo placed at 25,952 the total Koreans escaping in the past two days, and 9,398 those anti-Red Koreans remaining in custody. The figures differed somewhat with those released by the U. N. prisoner of war command, which said its totals were "rough."

Those making the break early today included 494 who battled U. S. Marines at Ascom City camp, near Seoul's big port of Incheon on the west coast. The U. N. Command said the leathernecks had replaced ROK guards at the camp before the South Koreans had opportunity "for collusion."

Whether the mass releases and breaks for freedom would wreck the two-year-old armistice negotiations—now in their 11th hour—remained to be seen.

At Communist request, a full-dress meeting of the armistice delegations was set for 11 a. m. Saturday (9 p. m., EST, Friday). There was no quick official Communist reaction to Rhee's defiant move.

In Moscow, the Soviet press carried the story under the heading "provocative actions of the Syngman Rhee clique." The reports published there implied collusion between some American authorities and the South Koreans.

Additionally, Russian newspapers published U. S. Secretary of State Dulles' comment that Rhee violated "the authority of the United Nations Command," and Prime Minister Churchill's statement deploring the prisoners' release.

Rhee has voiced vigorous opposition to any armistice leaving Korea divided.

Besides the mass break early Friday at Ascom City, hundreds of prisoners bolted at U. N. Camp 4 at Yongchon, in South-Central Korea; Camp No. 5 at Sang-Mudai and Pusan and a handful at Taegu.

At Ascom City, 13 prisoners were killed by gunfire and 17 were trampled to death as 494 other POWs clashed through a barbed wire fence to freedom. Ten more POWs died later of injuries to boost the death toll to 40.

A Marine spokesman said the gunfire came from a rice paddy outside the prison compound, evidently from Koreans aiding the break. Two Marines were wounded.

AP Correspondent Milo Farneti reported the stockade was literally blood-soaked. About 100 were recaptured. Some 980 remained in the camp during the break.

At Yongchon, about 770 POWs crashed through, under and over a nine-foot barbed wire fence to freedom despite tear gas shells fired by South Korean guards. There about 267 stayed behind.

At Pusan, about 170 patients fled into the predawn darkness from a POW hospital. The prisoner command said 93 were recaptured, leaving 2,830 Korean and Chinese prisoners still in custody there.

Egypt Becomes Republic, Ends Long Dynasty

Naguib Becomes First President In Its History

CAIRO (P)—Egypt's military rulers proclaimed their nation a republic last night, ending the 148-year-old dynasty of former King Farouk and his forebears and installing Premier-Maj. Gen. Mohammed Naguib as the country's first president.

At the same time the Army Revolutionary Council, which deposed Farouk last July and has been the power behind Naguib ever since, announced three of its members were taking over key Cabinet posts.

Chief of these was Lt. Col. Gamal Abdel Nasser, Naguib's closest aide and acting Army chief, who became vice-premier and interior minister.

The Council's proclamation said Naguib would serve as president and premier until the end of the three-year "transitional period" set up early this year. After that, the proclamation continued, "the people will have the last word in choosing the shape of the republic, designating a new president when a plebiscite on the constitution takes place."

Eventual proclamation of the republic had been expected since a strong tide of anti-monarchist feeling broke into the open with the deposition of Farouk. The change was recommended almost unanimously by a 50-member constituent commission which for several months has been working on the draft of a new constitution.

The proclamation stripped Fuad II, the 17-month-old son of Farouk, of his title as King and all his royal relatives of their titles as well. A regency had exercised the baby's nominal authority here since his father's forced abdication.

In addition to Nasser, the military men who came to the fore during the Cabinet reshuffle were:

Maj. Salah Salem, named minister of national guidance and minister of state in charge of Sudan affairs.

Wing Comdr. Abdel Latif Baghdadly, war and navy minister.

Maj. Abdel Hakim Amer, became commander-in-chief of the Egyptian armed forces; reliable sources said he would be jumped to the rank of major general.

Rosenbergs to Die Tonight; President Refuses Clemency

High Court Sweeps Away All Legal Barriers to Their Execution; Ike Says He Won't Intervene for Them

BULLETIN
WASHINGTON (P)—President Eisenhower today rejected an appeal that he spare the lives of atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg.

The President's decision was announced by a press aide in these words:
"The President refuses to intervene."

WASHINGTON (P)—With swift strokes, the Supreme Court today swept away all legal barriers to the execution of atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, and prison officials tentatively set 10 o'clock (EST) tonight as the hour for their death in the electric chair.

By a 6-3 vote, the nation's highest tribunal threw out the stay of execution granted on Wednesday by Justice William O. Douglas.

And, after brief consideration, it denied a motion for reconsideration and a plea for a stay from the court itself pending consideration of the case by President Eisenhower.

A clemency petition is on file at the White House.

Eisenhower has once denied clemency, however, and it appeared the only thing that might cause him to change his view would be a full confession from the doomed spies.

The couple, who have steadfastly maintained their innocence, have offered their assurances of a complete return to life imprisonment in return for a full account of their activities in the conspiracy of which they were convicted.

The husband and wife were found guilty more than two years ago of conspiring to give atomic secrets to the Russians.

The Supreme Court, having disposed of the issues before it, adjourned at 12:42 p. m. (EST) the extraordinary session to which it had been called to consider the Douglas stay of execution.

Justices Frankfurter and Black were the only justices who spoke out in dissent against the court's refusal, as a court, to grant a stay of execution.

Justice Black simply said he dissented from the denial of the application for a stay, made by Emanuel Bloch, chief attorney for the Rosenbergs.

Frankfurter, whose views were read by Chief Justice Vinson, said that if the executions are to take place tonight he would favor a stay to permit consideration of the latest clemency plea.

If the executions do not occur then, Frankfurter said, he assumed the petition would be given due consideration by the proper authorities.

The announcement of the denial of a new stay was read by Vinson, who said that questions involving clemency were not within the province of the Supreme Court.

Bloch gave reporters then a copy of a letter to Eisenhower in which he asked for an opportunity to argue the matter at the White House.

In his letter, Bloch said the nation and the world would be shocked if, with so much doubt as the Rosenbergs' execution would be carried out.

The attorney said "a careful consideration of the Rosenbergs' entire record shows the case against them reeks with perjury and fraud."

Bloch said he wanted "an immediate oral hearing to argue the justice of the Rosenberg application."

He told the President "I demand you be offered sufficient time to consider this serious matter."

"Our country will suffer everlasting shame and disgrace unless the executions are stayed and commutation and pardon are granted," the letter said.

"Tens of millions throughout the world condemn the death sentences. Our alliances are put in serious jeopardy because of the result of this case."

"For sake of American tradition, prestige and influence, I urge redress for the Rosenbergs."

The Rosenbergs were eating lunch at New York's Sing Sing prison when they received word, via the prison radio, that the Supreme Court had voted out the stay of execution that Douglas had granted.

There was no immediate word as to their reaction.

Soon after the historic ruling was announced, U. S. Marshal William A. Carroll said in New York that 10 p. m. (EST) tonight had been tentatively set for carrying out the death sentences.

The lawyers who have battled doggedly for the Rosenbergs were still maneuvering, however, to save them.

Today's court decision rejected the argument of Douglas that there is substantial reason to question whether the Rosenbergs were tried under the right law.

They were convicted and sentenced under the Espionage Act of 1917, but Douglas said the courts ought to pass on the question of whether they should have been sentenced under the 1946 Atomic Secrets Act.

The 6-man majority overturning the Douglas stay was made up of Chief Justice Vinson and Justices Reed, Jackson, Burton, Clark and Minton.

The minority consisted of Douglas and Justices Black and Frankfurter.

Vinson's majority opinion was brief. It said the court does not doubt

Douglas had the power to issue the stay in the first place.

But the chief justice said the issue is whether a substantial question of law exists. And he said the court believes in this case that answer is no.

Accordingly, Vinson said, the decision of the court is to vacate—that is, to reverse—the stay of execution.

There were a few muffled gasps in the crowded chamber as Vinson made the pronouncement.

In Congress, comment on the court's action was generally approving.

Soviet Cracks All Resistance By Laborers

Begin Returning To Their Jobs In East Berlin

BERLIN (P)—Tough Soviet martial law apparently cracked workers' resistance in East Berlin today and men began returning to their jobs for the first time since Wednesday's bloody revolt against the Communist government.

A Soviet machinegun barrier divided the tense Eastern sector of Berlin from the West but a semblance of normal traffic of workers could be seen from the frontier.

West Berlin Lord Mayor Ernst Reuter appealed for top level Allied meetings with the Russians to rescue the Soviet sector from the iron grip of Red army troops.

The United States, Britain and France have already demanded the Eastern sector. The Western powers condemned the execution yesterday of a jobless West Berlin truck driver by a Soviet firing squad as "an act of brutality which will shock the conscience of the western world."

Against a backdrop of frantic appeals by the puppet East German government for support from the people embittered by the years of dictatorial Red rule, there were these additional developments:

In West Berlin all flags were lowered to half staff for the victims of the rioting—numbering more than a score. A full day of mourning was planned for next Monday.

The American radio station RIAS advised the Soviet zone residents to avoid clashes with Soviet troops, saying violence would force the Russians to back up the Communist government in the long run.

One indication that the Russians planned no quick lifting of their martial rule was seen in the action restoring ration cards to 40,000 East Berliners who work in the West and now can pass through Red army lines. They had been cancelled six weeks ago.

As West Berlin lowered all its flags to half staff in mourning for the dead of the Eastern rebellion against Communism, Red Radio Berlin incessantly pumped out promises of reforms and appeals to support the government.

Streeter, labor leaders in the Soviet sector blared "It is the patriotic duty of every citizen to quietly take up the tools of his daily labor." West Berlin took this as evidence that the general strike which touched off Wednesday's violent rioting still is underway, or at least threatening the Red regime.

With 200 Russian tanks and 10,000 Soviet troops sealing the entire East-West Berlin frontier, there was no way of knowing how many East Germans were staying sullenly home.

Reports filtering into the West said that the Russians had imposed martial law and the "rules of war" which could mean more drum-head executions from one end of their zone to the other.

West Berlin newspaper headlines screamed "Murder" over their counts of the Soviet execution of the alleged riot leader. His wife, in the Allied-occupied half of the city, said her husband had to cross the Soviet area by elevated railway to reach the office, in the American sector, where he drew the $8.56 weekly relief check on which the couple and their two small daughters subsisted.

"That must have been how he was accidentally drawn into the workers' demonstration. He had no special interest in politics," she declared in the two-room apartment that also houses the dead man's sister and brother-in-law.

In a note to East Berlin's Soviet Control Chief Sergei Denzin, the U. S., Britain and France through their commandants in West Berlin condemned the Russians' "irresponsible recourse to military force" which they blamed for the blood shed in the revolt against Red rule.

There was no accurate estimate of how many lives had been lost since the Russians took over complete military control at various rioting points and shoved their hand-picked East German government back on the shelf.

In addition to the 16 known dead in Berlin—and one executed at least seven—were reported slain in Magdeburg. The wounded were in the hundreds. More than 100 East Berliners were in jail.

Sunday School Lesson Notes

Burden-Bearing and Burden-Sharing
BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D. D.

Wherever groups of Christian converts gathered together in various cities, they became the "churches" of the New Testament — at Ephesus, Corinth, Philippi and other places. They were won to the new faith chiefly through the missionary work of St. Paul, and seem to have been bound together in a very close fellowship, either living together or in close and mutually helpful relationships.

Under such conditions the sort of problems quickly arose that have done much to wreck most community experiments which often begin with much faith and idealism.

One of these was "Brook Farm," famous now because of the distinguished New Englanders who participated in its hopes and failure.

But the reason it did fail was due to failure of individual members to share sincerely in the vision and ideals of the founders. They did not measure up to the faith, courage and sacrifice that might have achieved success.

It was in this respect that failure, insofar as there was failure, soon occurred among these early Christian groups. Much of the common counsel, as well as the call for strong disciplinary measures, appears frequently in St. Paul's Epistles to the Churches.

The gospel of love and brotherhood, together with the conditions under which the Christians lived in pagan and hostile environments, called for mutual aid to a high degree. Paul put the obligation very plainly: "Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfill the law of Christ" (Galatians 6:2).

But Paul, himself a self-supporting worker, saw that some were taking advantage of this fine doctrine to take advantage of their well-disposed brethren by shirking their own responsibilities. So, he declared, almost in the same breath, "For every man shall bear his own burden." "Let every man," he said, "prove for his own work."

That this situation was not confined to the Galatians is evident in various other passages. In II Thessalonians 3:10 Paul, noting that there were among them disorderly persons and busybodies, declared quite roundly that if there were any who did not work, neither should they eat.

The world in general, possibly making too much of some of the things that Paul wrote that Peter and Paul were hard to understand (II Peter 3:16), has made too little of these plain principles of personal and mutual responsibility that are as valid and vital for social welfare and modern democracies as they were for the small groups of Christians to whom Paul wrote. Paul was a great believer in Christian social action, and he set down its most distinctive principles with a clear and unerring hand.

Adco Takes Lead Defeating Lions; Optimists Wallop Democrat-Capital

Two games, as far apart as possible in the brands of baseball displayed, were hotly contested late in the American division of the night. In the first, Optimists ran away from Democrat-Capital to win 27-9 in a loosely played affair while in the second Adco trimmed the Lions 9 to 3 in a good hitting, hustling battle.

The same teams will be paired up for new battles tonight to make up for games postponed from June 2.

In the major leagues Optimists defeated Kivanas 10 to 7, while on Wednesday night the Jaycees took the Elks 6 to 5.

When the Optimists romped to their victory over the Democrat-Capital it was their first victory of the season, and it came easy as five newsboy hurlers had trouble in getting the pill over the plate. When they did, the batters blasted out hits, or errors allowed them on base. The five pitchers for the losers gave up 20 walks. Hurlers included Kelley, Watson, Boul, Reed and Schultz.

The rout started early with 10 Optimist runs counting in the top of the first. Five more went home in the second, 10 more in the third and only two in the 4th, the final frame, since the game was called under the rules.

Democrat-Capital batters were kept under control by Lawrence, the winning moundsman, who gave up only four hits. The losers made 1 tally in the first, 6 in the second and two in the final half frame. Kelly, who started, was the losing hurler.

Extra base hits of the game included three doubles by Fairfax, Optimist first sacker, and one by Boul, newsboy third baseman.

The second game they took over the lead of their division with three wins and one loss. Spieler, making his first start, was the winning hurler and he had no difficulty with the Lions except for the Lion pitcher, Coffey, Coffey rammed a homer and a double off Spieler's pitches. Bobby Jones, second baseman for the Adcos, was the top batter of his team with three doubles in four trips.

Adco took a three run lead in the top of the first and was never behind, adding two in the 2nd, 1 in the third and 3 in the sixth. Lions scored one in the first and two in the third.

The game was one of the fastest played in the majors this season.

Cards, Dodgrs Are Doing Best to Give Braves Pennant

By BEN PHLEGAR
Associated Press Sports Writer

The St. Louis Cardinals and the Brooklyn Dodgers are doing their level best to insure the 1953 National League pennant for the upstart Milwaukee Braves.

It's strictly unintentional of course. But nobody is happier than the transplanted Braves about the current state of affairs where the Cards can't win for losing in Brooklyn and the home-loving Dodgers would be much better off if they just skipped St. Louis on their Western tours.

The two would-be contenders have met nine times this spring. The Dodgers won the four played in Brooklyn and the Cardinals have just finished sweeping their second series—a total of five games—from Brooklyn in St. Louis.

Milwaukee, certainly not an outfit to let such a golden opportunity slip by, has gained three full games during Brooklyn's decline and fall in St. Louis. And because the Braves, too, have been winning, the only progress the Cardinals have made towards first place is the half game they picked up yesterday when Milwaukee was rained out.

The Cardinals beat the Dodgers, 12-4, in the windup of their series, played with the thermometer pushing 100 degrees. The Chicago Cubs moved within two percentage points of getting out of the cellar as they whipped Pittsburgh, 8-4, and New York defeated Cincinnati, 6-3.

The crushing New York Yankees subdued St. Louis twice, 5-0 and 3-0, stretching their amazing American League lead to 11 games over Cleveland. The Indians had to go 12 innings to beat Philadelphia, 6-4.

Boston broke almost all modern records for single inning scoring by pushing across 17 runs in the seventh against Detroit. The Red Sox went on to win 22-3, making a total of 40 runs scored off Tiger pitching in two games.

Chicago defeated Washington, 8-4, with six runs in the ninth inning.

Topeka Is Closer To St. Joseph After 3-2 Win

By The Associated Press

Topeka has climbed to within two games of the league leading St. Joseph Cardinals today in the Western Association. The Owls pared a game off the Cardinals lead last night with a 3-2 victory at St. Joseph.

Pitcher Jack Dean helped the high-flying Owls by scattering nine Cardinal hits that kept St. Joseph scoreless until the eighth. He choked off another Cardinal rally in the ninth for his seventh win against one loss.

Dean's triple plus two singles and a walk accounted for the Owls' run in the second frame.

Hutchinson won a 3-1 triumph in the opener of a three-game series at Ft. Smith. The Elks scored two tallies in the eighth on a triple, a double, an error and a single, then added a clincher in the ninth. The batting power for Hutchinson was supplied by rightfielder Lamar Moore, who rapped out a triple, and Joe Beran who hit a double.

Joplin climbed back into fourth spot in the league over Muskogee by downing the Giants 4-2 in a series opener at Muskogee. Joplin scored two unearned runs in the third inning that proved to be enough to assure them the victory.

Paul Livick scored the winning run after he walked and then reached second on an error. He tallied on another Giant error.

Tonight's schedule: Joplin at Muskogee, Topeka at St. Joseph, and Hutchinson at Ft. Smith.

Dirty Moccasins

The name for Blackfoot, Idaho, originated when the Indians' moccasins became black from walking through ashes of a range fire. These Indians were seen by members of a Hudson's Bay company party, who referred to them as Blackfoot Indians.

the Cardinals just by tossing his glove on the mound, lasted only four innings and gave up six runs—three of them on a bases loaded double by Stan Musial. The loss marked the 10th straight game a Brooklyn starting pitcher has failed to last. Harvey Haddox, picked up by Hal White in the sixth, picked up his eighth victory.

Hank Sauer, a home run specialist last season, hit his first one since May 30 in the Cubs' third straight success over Pittsburgh.

Lefty Dave Koslo lasted long enough against Cincinnati to gain his first victory of the year, although he had to have help from Hoyt Wilhelm in the sixth.

Eddie Lopat in the first game and Jim McDonald and Tom Gorman in the second game baffled the Browns as the Yankees made it three in a row and 31 out of their last 36 games.

Lopat's victory was his eighth straight this season.

During the runfest at Boston the Red Sox collected 14 hits and six walks to score their 17 runs. One of the hits was a homer by Dick Gernert with two on base.

Three men reached base three times in the inning. Gene Stephens doubled once and singled twice. Sam White and Tom Umphlett got two singles and a walk apiece. White scored three runs. All were modern major league records.

East Baptists Down Higginsville Here by 17 to 9

East Sedalia Baptists' softball team pushed over the Higginsville Baptists 17 to 9 in a game played before a large crowd Thursday night at Center Park.

The winners had nine hits and the losers only 6, but the hosts made 6 errors and the visitors only 3. However, scoring-wise there was never any doubt about the game except for a few minutes in the fifth when it looked as though the Sedalians would never get three outs against Higginsville.

The score by innings shows how the winners went ahead and stayed there:

Higginsville 000 060 3—9
East Baptist 424 223 x—17
Morton was the winning pitcher and Houston was the loser. Houston and Trigg, both of Higginsville, had 4-baggers.

Jr. Legion Wins
Sedalia's Post 16 Junior Legion baseball team defeated Raytown here Thursday night 12 to 3.

the Cardinals just by tossing his glove on the mound, lasted only four innings and gave up six runs—three of them on a bases loaded double by Stan Musial. The loss marked the 10th straight game a Brooklyn starting pitcher has failed to last. Harvey Haddox, picked up by Hal White in the sixth, picked up his eighth victory.

Hank Sauer, a home run specialist last season, hit his first one since May 30 in the Cubs' third straight success over Pittsburgh.

Lefty Dave Koslo lasted long enough against Cincinnati to gain his first victory of the year, although he had to have help from Hoyt Wilhelm in the sixth.

Eddie Lopat in the first game and Jim McDonald and Tom Gorman in the second game baffled the Browns as the Yankees made it three in a row and 31 out of their last 36 games.

Lopat's victory was his eighth straight this season.

During the runfest at Boston the Red Sox collected 14 hits and six walks to score their 17 runs. One of the hits was a homer by Dick Gernert with two on base.

Three men reached base three times in the inning. Gene Stephens doubled once and singled twice. Sam White and Tom Umphlett got two singles and a walk apiece. White scored three runs. All were modern major league records.

The Cardinals beat the Dodgers, 12-4, in the windup of their series, played with the thermometer pushing 100 degrees. The Chicago Cubs moved within two percentage points of getting out of the cellar as they whipped Pittsburgh, 8-4, and New York defeated Cincinnati, 6-3.

The crushing New York Yankees subdued St. Louis twice, 5-0 and 3-0, stretching their amazing American League lead to 11 games over Cleveland. The Indians had to go 12 innings to beat Philadelphia, 6-4.

By Dick Wade

Boys, we might as well face it—hot weather and lack of rainfall have combined to make fishing in this area a tough proposition—one in which special techniques and careful study alone can prevent an empty stringer.

Throughout this region all streams and lakes are low and clear and the fish extremely wary.

But they still are being caught, and we have managed to put our finger on a few of the tricks currently being employed by skilled anglers.

Perhaps most important is the time you fish.

As one veteran pointed out recently, "The average fisherman sleeps when he should be fishing, and fishes when he should be sleeping."

Clarifying this a little, he means that you should be at your favorite fishing spot before dawn or after sunset; you're wasting your time during most of the daylight hours.

He didn't explain how you're to sleep with the mercury nudging the 100 mark.

Secondly, give 'em what they want.

From all available sources this is narrowed to surface lures in the sunrise and dusk periods, and a lively minnow (if you can find one) lowered into the deepest water you can find during the heated hours.

And finally, spend a little time locating the best available water and feeding conditions.

This is a large order, but we hope we have located a few places which will prove out this weekend.

John Hickey, the local Missouri Conservation agent, spent the first part of the week walking the creeks in this area and on Thursday went from one end of the Lake of the Ozarks to the other.

Here's what he reports — all streams in this region are extremely low and the only fish being taken are black perch and a few bass by fly fishermen early in the morning on surface lures and a few carp on "dough-bait" fished deep in the Blackwater River.

On the Lake of the Ozarks, however, there are two areas which Hickey recommends—the Pomme de Terre River above Fairfield and the Niangua.

He says the Pomme is in fine shape and good strings of black bass and jack salmon, the latter running from 2½ to 3 pounds, are being brought in consistently. The Niangua (Big and Little) are low but their water is in good shape and bass, jacks and channel cat are biting well. The bass are hitting surface plugs, the jacks troll minnows and the channels cut bait. One resort reported guests landed three jacks between 5½ and 7½ pounds last Sunday.

Closer to home, Hickey's sole recommendation is Windsor Lake, where fly casters have been making good catches of bass, crappie and bluegill.

Here are more detailed condition reports on the Lake:

Warsaw Area — the water is murky and low and only a few white bass and crappie are being caught.

Cole Camp Creek — popping bugs are hooking a few black bass in the low, clear water, but fishing, in general, is poor.

Little and Big Buffalo — the same low, clear and poor report.

A few bass are being taken early in the morning and after dark on surface lures.

Hurricane Deck Area — the water is clear and low and fishing extremely spotty.

Bagnell Dam Area — the low water is in fair fishing condition and some black bass and walleye are being taken early and late—the bass on top water lures and the jacks on a spinner-big minnow combination.

Below the dam — a few white bass comprise all the fish being caught. White catfish just aren't biting.

Down on the Gravois Arm, Gib Morgan of the Gravois Information Service, reports the fishing spotty, but special methods producing some fish.

For instance, Jack Allen of Versailles boated a 50-pound flathead cat on a trot-line set in shallow water; the white bass fishermen are restricting their activity to after-dark hours; and the crappie are being found at the 50-foot deep level.

Both crappie and white bass are hitting the medium-sized minnows.

Down in Arkansas, they're still bringing in big bass on Lake Norfork and Bull Shoals Reservoir, but they're fishing deep or at night.

The largest bass caught there last week was a 9-pound-6 large-mouth bass from Norfork on a crawdad.

And, finally, in answer to a couple of questions, neither black perch or bluegill are considered game fish in this state, and both can now be used for bait.

Bluegill must be good — the 70-pound catfish reported last week was caught on one.

Sedalia Stays In Fourth Place In Intercity Golf

Sedalia's intercity golf team picked up 12½ points on third-place Fulton Thursday in the third round of the four-meet tournament played at the Columbia Country Club, but still found itself a mountainous 70½ points down going into the finale, which will be held next Thursday at the local Country Club.</

McCarthy Says He Was Aware Of Death Plan

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) said today he has known "for some time" that Communists have him marked for assassination, and a colleague said other senators' names may be on the same list.

McCarthy's Senate investigations subcommittee dramatically brought the story to light at a hearing yesterday.

Joseph D. Mazzei, describing himself as a former FBI counter-spy, swore he heard a Pittsburgh Communist brag last December that the Communist party had assigned him to kill McCarthy "when the time comes." He named the man as Lou Bortz.

Within minutes the subcommittee called Bortz as a witness. He refused to say whether Mazzei's testimony was true, pleading that the answer might tend to incriminate him.

Sen. Mundt (R-S.D.), presiding at the subcommittee's inquiry, said the group has more evidence about the alleged assassination plot than it revealed in the hearing.

Questioning of Mazzei behind closed doors, Mundt said, "indicated that the Communist command had prepared a list for liquidation, and that Bortz's specific job was handling the liquidation of McCarthy, others to handle the rest of the list."

Mundt said he believes some senators were on the list. He declined to be more specific or to say how far he plans to explore that angle publicly. McCarthy would not discuss it at all.

McCarthy said the FBI has not provided him with a bodyguard and that he wants none. He declined to say whether he carries a pistol.

The subcommittee announced it plans to call more witnesses in the case next week, and said one of them would be Steve Nelson, former Communist party official in Western Pennsylvania. Nelson was convicted last year of violating Pennsylvania sedition laws. He was sentenced to 10 to 20 years in prison, but is currently free on bond pending outcome of an appeal. Nelson and four others are now on trial on a federal indictment alleging a conspiracy to advocate forcible overthrow of the government.

Mazzei described Bortz as a leader of Red "goon squads" who, he said, schooled fellow Communists in the use of bombs, guns and sabotage.

Bortz declined to answer questions about Mazzei's testimony or even to say whether he recognized Mazzei.

Department Store Sales Drop For First Time in Two Months

ST. LOUIS (AP)—For the first time in two months, department store sales in the Eighth Federal Reserve District last week were lower than in the comparable week of 1952.

One big difference was that Father's Day came a week earlier last year. Another factor was that sales a year ago were stimulated by the beginning of a record heat wave, the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis reported.

Sales were down four per cent for the entire district, with the decline averaging six per cent in the St. Louis area, four per cent at Memphis, Tenn., three per cent at Louisville, Ky., two per cent at Little Rock, Ark., and eight per cent in seven smaller cities.

District sales were nine per cent larger for the four weeks which ended Saturday and six per cent higher for the year to date, as compared with last year.

Will Hold Public Hearing on Cream Price Difference

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—A public hearing will be held here July 1 to decide whether the differential between prices of No. 1 and No. 2 cream should be increased from three to five cents a pound.

L. C. Carpenter, state commissioner of agriculture, called the hearing. It will be held in the House of Representatives Chamber in the Capitol at 1 p. m.

Carpenter said the dairy industry and farmer groups asked for the increase. He said he believed it could be shown the increase would provide a general incentive to improve cream quality from No. 2 to No. 1.

And that would help butter sales, he said, because low score butter moves slowly but high score butter sells well.

Trained Terrier Dies On Train. Owner Asks $600,000 Damages

LOS ANGELES (AP)—An Irishman wants $600,000 damages for the death of his trained dog in a railroad baggage car.

Bernard Mitchell, a citizen of Ireland who is now living in Orange County, filed suit in Federal Court yesterday against the Union Pacific and Chicago North-western Railroads. His complaint says the trained terrier, Pudsy, described as "The Wonder Dog of Europe," died en route to California last June.

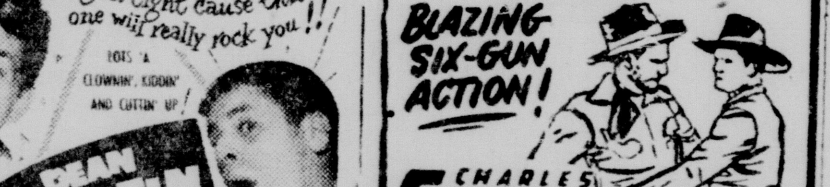

Mitchell's suit asserted that he was promised when he left Chicago on the same train with the dog that he would have access to the baggage car to feed and water Pudsy. But after leaving Chicago,

Mitchell alleged, he was informed that the baggage car was sealed. He added that the dog was dead when the train arrived in California.

Will Give Old Sketch Again For Newsmen

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Seventeen years ago a burlesque comic by the name of Lou Costello wrote a comedy sketch about a baseball team. He and his partner tried it out on the stage of Minsky's Republic Theater on New York's 42nd Street.

The show director threw the sketch out after the first matinee performance.

A few years later, Costello teamed up with Bud Abbott and graduated from burlesque to big-time radio on the Kate Smith show. The two tried to revive the baseball sketch but Producer Ted Collins would not hear of it.

"They'll hiss you off the air with that silly thing," Collins told Lou. Five months later, Kate talked Collins into letting the boys use the sketch, called "Who's On First?"

Since then the boys have gone into that baseball routine thousands of times—once for as little as $20, once for as much as $15,000, and innumerable times for charity. It has helped make millionaires of them.

Tomorrow night they'll do it again for the Greater Los Angeles Press Club, which will give them its sixth annual 8-Ball Award—for creating "The Greatest Comedy Sketch of the 20th Century."

Lou said the team performed the routine for the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt on a half-dozen occasions, always at his request.

They got the $20 fee for performing the sketch at a Philadelphia amusement park.

"We paid our agent $2 and then used the other $18 on rides on the miniature train," recalled Lou. The $15,000 fee came for a special anniversary broadcast of an Eastern drug chain.

Trumans Will Visit Washington First Time Since Last January

INDEPENDENCE, Mo. (AP)—Former President and Mrs. Truman are to leave today on an automobile trip to Washington for their first visit there since leaving the White House in January.

Truman declined last night to discuss the trip. However, his friends in Washington said he was expected there Monday night for a five-day stay.

The friends reported he plans to see his former colleagues in the Senate and a number of his former Cabinet members. He also is scheduled to have lunch with officials of the Truman Memorial Library Association.

Pratt plans call for the Trumans to travel to Philadelphia from the capital, then to New York where their daughter, Margaret, is living.

Officers Get New Weapon In Dope Fight

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—Missouri law enforcement officers are going to have a new legal weapon to use against drug addicts.

Gov. Phil M. Donnelly signed yesterday a bill giving officers the right to search for and seize narcotics and the devices used to administer them, such as hypodermic needles. No search warrant will be needed if the seizure is made during an arrest.

The bill was one of a series developed by a special Senate committee which worked to bring Missouri narcotics and other criminal laws up to date.

Also signed yesterday were bills to: Give counties $1,800 to $4,800 a year to hire magistrate Court clerks, depending on size of the county.

Make it possible for prosecutors to charge drivers either with drunken driving or leaving the scene of an accident. Because of a 1949 legislative error, a person formerly had to be guilty of both charges in order to be convicted.

Boy, 3, Tries Hand At Driving, Agrees He's Not an Expert

DETROIT (AP)—Three-year-old Jimmy Ray Bennett today assessed the results of his first driving lesson and agreed to an indefinite postponement on the second.

Jimmy climbed into the car of a neighbor yesterday and stepped on the starter while trying out the gadgets he found inside.

The car which had been parked on an incline in reverse, jumped backwards. Before halting after a collision with a stop sign, the car clipped a parked car.

Jimmy, excited by the sudden ride, grabbed at the gearshift lever, throwing the car into forward. The car leaped ahead and side-swiped two more cars before stalling.

Jimmy jumped from the car and ran into his house.

"Me no hurt. Me no hurt," Jimmy assured his father, when he was pulled from under a bed where he had taken refuge.

CHICAGO (AP)—A telephone call to Appleton, Wis., cleared up a six-hour kidnap scare Thursday after a Burlington, Ia., woman boarded a train and her husband missed it while looking for her.

Dr. Carl Clark and his wife, Harriet, 75, had to change trains here en route to visit their daughter, Mrs. Helen Hill, at Appleton. When Dr. Clark went to the information counter at the Chicago and Northwestern station, Mrs. Clark boarded the Appleton-bound train with some friends.

Dr. Clark called police when other persons in the station told him his wife walked away with strangers. After six hours, he called Appleton. Mrs. Clark was there.

Mrs. Clark told her husband by telephone she hadn't worried until after the train pulled out because she assumed the doctor was in another car.

Reds Push Manchurian Farms

HONG KONG (AP)—Ever since the Chinese communists took over China and began leading that vast country into Moscow-bred economic and political patterns, they have used Manchuria as their laboratory and testing ground. Now it seems Manchuria is to lead the way toward Soviet style collective farming.

Recent reports from a farm conference show that 345 state farms have been established there, covering 466,830 acres of cultivated land. There are workers on the project, including 20,000 on 29 "mechanized" farms. Against the vast backdrop of Manchuria the total acreage is only a midget figure. But the Reds are directing major attention to the collective farming, apparently in a quest for more farm production to keep with the Reds' ambitious five-year program of industrialization.

Taft Suffers From Anemia and Bad Hip Joint

WASHINGTON — The unfortunate fact about Senator Taft's health is that he has been suffering from both anemia and deterioration in the thigh-bone and hip-bone joints.

The anemia came first. Following this he wrenched his tendons and muscles around the hip joint. Because of the anemia the blood supply wasn't sufficient to heal the damage and bone deterioration began to set in.

The senator is now getting frequent blood transfusions and is taking liver extract to overcome the anemia, together with cortisone to repair the damage to the bone. As the anemia is overcome, a better supply of blood should flow to the hip area and help the bone condition.

It is extremely painful and the senator is understandably irritable at times. While at Walter Reed hospital he had the doctors in a dither. Having been an energetic man all his life, he is also impatient. Doctors say that what he needs more than anything else is plenty of rest.

This writer would like to suggest therefore that whether we agree with Senator Taft or not, now might be a good time to write him a little encouragement and especially urge him to take it easy. Among those who are writing him, incidentally, are every lodge of the Sons of Italy, an organization frequently disagreeing with Taft.

The World Today— Ike Considers A-bomb Role

By DON WHITEHEAD
(For James Marlow)

WASHINGTON — In World War II, Japan was hit by U. S. air Force raids ranging up to 500 planes in strength. But single planes dropping single atomic bombs jarred the enemy into final surrender.

Today the U. S. has stockpiled atomic bombs far more destructive than the bombs that exploded over Hiroshima and Nagasaki.

President Eisenhower said recently security cannot be pegged to any given number of planes. As an example he noted that three aircraft with "modern weapons"—the atomic bombs—"can practically duplicate the destructive power of all the 2,700 planes we unleashed in the great breakout from the Normandy beachhead."

This being true, why shouldn't the Air Force trim down the size of its planned force in relation to the increased destructive power of the atom bomb—rather than insist on an immediate decision to build up to 143 wings?

There is strong evidence the administration had this same question in mind in calling for a new review of Air Force needs.

But the Air Force argues the number of planes needed cannot be related to the power of the atomic bomb in this fashion. In open revolt, the Air Force is urging Congress to accept its 143-wing goal rather than wait for the Eisenhower administration to review the entire defense field.

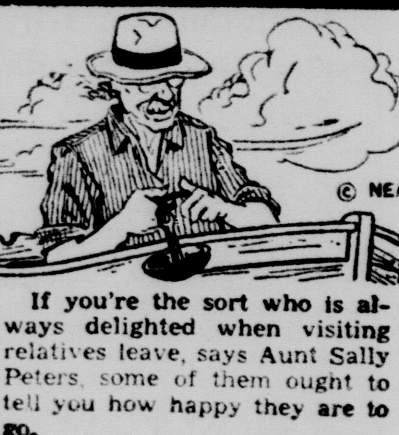

Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Air Force chief of staff, told senators: "Any relationship between the amount of payload that you can carry on a bomber today does not give you anything at all in relation to the number of planes you need."

Then he went on to argue that roughly, the Air Force must use the same number of planes to get atom bombs on a target as it needs to deliver the old type bombs on a target. He explained this is so because the bomber formations have interlocking fire to protect each other and insure delivery of the bombs.

However, there are some who are skeptical of the Vandenberg argument. And part of this skepticism can be traced to past Air Force estimates of needs in manpower and planes.

The Air Force first advocated a goal of 155 wings in August, 1951, and estimated it would have to have 22,790 planes to equip them.

Sweetness And Light

Senators of all political complexions met around the dinner table with CIO chief Walter Reuther last week for an evening of such sweetness and light that Indiana's roly-poly Sen. Homer Capehart complained: "There's not enough fight."

"I want to see Reuther in his fighting clothes," the Hoosier Republican half-joked, half-grumbled. "Even the Democrats aren't fighting any more. And when the Democrats don't fight, we Republicans can't fight back."

Present at the meeting were not merely liberal Democratic senators friendly to the CIO, but such conservatives as Richard Russell of Georgia, Lyndon Johnson of Texas, plus Vice President Nixon and various Republicans.

Jim Carey, CIO secretary-treasurer, joked a bit regarding the CIO's former closeness to the White House (CIO headquarters could look out on the Truman family's washing when they lived in Blair House) and indicated the CIO expected to be close to the White House again. Guests could not quite tell from Carey's remarks whether he was indirectly complaining at the AFL's present inner track as a result of Martin Durkin's appointment to the Eisenhower cabinet.

Introducing CIO Chief Reuther, Carey said: "A lot of people think he has horns, but those who know him know he is thinking about the welfare of the country."

Looking Backward

Rotarians who have not been properly inducted into that organization will "ride the goat" at the noonday meeting at Hotel Bothwell Monday noon. Dr. Guy Titsworth chairman of the initiation committee to be in charge of the program. He will be assisted by D. S. Lamm, the Rev. Raymond C. Lippard and R. M. Johns.

Charles Botz, for many years one of Sedalia's most prominent residents and who recently retired as an active member of the Botz Printing Company, left Saturday afternoon for Jefferson City, where he will join his wife who has been there visiting.

Sunday the Botz family will hold a family reunion there and Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Botz and their daughter, Mrs. Charles Royce, Jefferson City, leave for a trip to their former home in Germany.

The Business and Professional Women's Club will have a picnic at Liberty Park Thursday evening, only 90 planes were eliminated.

Also, at one time the Air Force estimated it would need 1,900,000 men—but before the cutting was through this manpower figure had almost been halved.

Charged Capehart

Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas asked Reuther about reciprocal trade. The CIO boss replied that it might hurt some industries but that the over-all effect was good.

Most significant speech was made by Capehart of Indiana, who has always worn the reactionary label but who talked almost like a new dealer. He urged that a standby public-works program should be kept on the legislative case in case the cutback on arms caused unemployment.

This brought a word of appreciation from Reuther who praised the Indiana senator for his "change of heart."

"If I have had a change of heart, it is because we are now of the majority party," replied Capehart, then added with a twinkle. "If I have had a change of heart, I hope the CIO will have a change of heart the next time I come up for re-election."

Vice President Nixon, in turn, paid tribute to Reuther for his leadership in the fight against Communism both at home and abroad. Nixon told how Reuther's union had poured thousands of dollars into the battle to keep Communists out of the free trade movement, and praised Reuther's brother, Victor, for his leadership in building free trade unions in Europe.

It was on this note that the dinner broke up, with CIO leaders and right-wing Republicans going out together arm-in-arm.

Top Republican congressmen say privately that most of President Eisenhower's trouble with Dan Reed, chairman of the powerful, tax-writing Ways and Means Committee, can be traced directly to faulty White House staff work.

In fact, one top Republican contends that Ike's request for a six-month extension of the excess-profits tax may be turned down by Chairman Reed because of a foul-up innocently committed by a White House secretary.

Here's the way the Republican leader tells it.

Dan Reed is a proud man. He's got more continuous federal service than any other Republican in Washington. He was elected to Congress in 1918 and he's been there ever since.

"Reed," relates his fellow Republican, "knows his power and he likes to have it recognized. But Ike's team made the grave error of laying out most of their plans—including their tax plans—during the weeks before the inauguration without even asking Dan Reed for his advice. Reed is 'Mr. Taxes' in this congress. Despite this he wasn't even consulted. He began to get sore at the White House team right then and there."

"That was poor politics," continues Reed's colleague, "but what happened next was one of those incredible mistakes that sometimes shape history. The President called a special meeting of his congressional leaders to discuss taxes and to urge a six-month extension of the excess-profits tax. Ike wanted Dan Reed to be present. But somebody at the White House made a mistake. Instead of inviting Reed to the session, the invitation went out to John Tabor, chairman of the appropriations committee."

"It was just a mistake. But Dan Reed heard about the meeting and he's been boiling mad ever since. If Ike's advisers had butted up Reed a little they'd probably have no trouble getting the excess-profits bill extended. As it is now, Reed won't even let that excess-profits bill come up for a vote in his committee."

Berkeley Square Bird Isn't On the Square

LONDON — Most Americans, harking back to the song hit of the 1940s, probably would prefer to believe that "A Nightingale Sang In Berkeley Square."

The truth is that no nightingale would be caught dead in Berkeley Square. Or alive either; the gas fumes from the Rolls-Royces speeding through Mayfair would soon choke the little blighter.

To send this summer's American tourists home with the happy thought that they have heard nature's own coloratura soprano, International Business Machines has come to the rescue.

IBM, whose London offices front on Berkeley Square, has recorded the song of a real nightingale on a gimmick concealed in a street clock at the corner of the square. The warbler is heard from dusk to midnight in 10-minute song bursts via the wire recorder.

Just so the thing won't look too phony, a Japanese nightingale born in captivity (it is illegal to cage one in England) sits in an aviary in the center of the square. It is hoped that the Japanese bird, which has remained mute to date, will take a hint from his caged friend.

"It all goes to show," observes a London cabby whose stand is in the square, "that businessmen ain't all adding machines and calculators. They got their soft side, just like the next one."

Bob Thomas In Hollywood— Balcony Audience Is Fading, Phil Blames 'Age of Vision'

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD — The legitimate theater, already beset with a variety of ills, faces another trouble—the loss of the balcony audience.

Phil Silvers, star of the immensely popular "Top Banana," throws some light on this problem. He has been touring across the country in the Broadway hit—"Name of the show is generally sold out at the orchestra seats at prices ranging from $4.80 to $6, the lower-priced balcony seats often go begging."

This situation has alarmed many persons in the theater. Most of today's balconies are empty, whence will come the theater audiences of tomorrow?

Comedian Silvers thinks he knows the reason for this phenomenon. "I've thought it out very carefully," he declared, "and I've come to this conclusion: This is the age of vision."

"Television is probably the reason for it. It has gotten people into the habit of seeing things close up. Instead of seeing a fight from the 100th row, they have a ring-side seat on TV. The same is true of other sports, as well as public events, comedy and dramatic shows."

"So when they go to the theater, they aren't content to sit up in the balcony. They want to see the expressions on the faces of the actors, and they're willing to pay top prices to see a good show. But they won't sit where they can't see, no matter how much money they save."

"The age of vision is hitting the movies, too. The big thing now is seeing, so theaters are getting 3D and wide screens."

Like most hard-working comedians, Silvers is a serious fellow when he is not working. He is relaxing at the Garden of Allah, "communing with the ghost of F. Scott Fitzgerald." That's the faded hostility that once housed Fitzgerald, Robert Benchley and other literary greats. Silvers appeared to be getting in the spirit, because I found him pecking out a story on a typewriter.

"I sometimes get the delusion that I'm a writer," he explained. "I always tear the stuff up the next day."

The comic, who talks urgently about his own problems, said he had adopted a new attitude toward life. Long a favorite of other comedians, he used to be always "on," meaning he would continue performing in private life. This constant tension was partly the cause of a loss of vision during the New York run of "Top Banana."

"Now I'm a different person," he said. "The only time I'm 'on' is when I'm on stage. During the tour, I had to retire to my hotel room. I built a wall of loneliness around myself."

Silvers is learning to enjoy life again, now that he is back in Hollywood. "Top Banana" is a big hit here.

He'll end the show here and then start talking about a film version. Deals are cooking with three producers, he reported.

Odds and Ends

A Sedalia family keeps quite a bit of food in the basement of their home, eggs, canned goods and other things and mother finds it necessary to send Carl, her five and a half year old son, down in the basement to get her what she needs now and then to save herself a few steps.

One day recently the little boy and his uncle were taking things easy in the living room of the home when the mother told her young son to run down in the basement and get something for her.

Carl looked up at his uncle a bit disgusted. "You run down and get it, Murray," he said, "I've been waiting on her for five and a half years."

The heat is terrible. It is causing people to do all sorts of things—or at least it is getting blamed for the absent-mindedness that seems to be rather contagious.

The young woman sat in the business office of a Sedalia firm typing away fast and furiously—then suddenly she gasped. The others stopped their work and looked at her. Here she had been typing, probably the amount of a whole page of typewritten paper, when she discovered she didn't have any paper in the typewriter at all. She had forgotten to put the paper in. This hot weather and she had to do all that typing over again!—H.L.

wouldn't have missed it for anything."

"Are you crazy, Cass? I was a prisoner in the next room. How did you get here?" He sat on the edge of her bed.

"I came with that man in Echo Junction you pointed out as an outlaw. His name is Al Tasker." "And a cutthroat. Get up. You must get dressed."

"With you in my room? You shock me, Peter."

"It angered him that she could make fun of him while their situation was so acute, but she had always been that way—stubborn and contrary. He held his temper. "I'm going to slip out and try to get some horses. Then I'll be back. If we get enough start we can reach Panguitch before they can overtake us."

"This is a warm, comfortable bed and I've no intention of leaving it. I'm very tired."

"Good heavens, girl, can't I make you realize—"

"No. I've lived with danger for five years, and I've never yet met a man I couldn't handle. I can wrap Zed Barnes around my little finger."

"I can't—and neither can you. It won't be just death, it'll mean torture." In his anxiety he shook her by the shoulder.

"Don't manhandle me," she snapped. "I'm not going with you."

"How can I ride off and leave you alone in the clutches of this renegade? But if I don't you'll have the pleasure, probably, of seeing me roasted, or spread out on an anti-hill."

Villages Get Electricity

ATHENS, Mo. — The first of four large electric power producing plants is scheduled to go into operation this spring, bringing electricity for the first time into mountain villages which for centuries have depended on the oil lamp for light.

The plant is located at Aliveri, on the island of Euboea, lying off Greece's east coast and connected to the mainland by bridge. It will be powered by lignite which is available in quantity on the island.

The other three plants, situated in northern Greece and the Peloponnese, will depend on newly-harnessed water energy for their power.

All four projects were started with money grants totalling $10,000,000 from the Mutual Security Agency plus reparations from Greece's wartime enemy, Italy.

High frequency oscillators, similar to small radio sending stations, can tell the chemist how much salt is in the sea or how much of a valuable element, like beryllium, might be lost down the drain. This extends the principle of radio into a new field.

Spies Request Further Death House Talks

OSKINSING, N. Y. (AP)—The condemned atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg planned new death house meetings today as Sing Sing prison officials stood by for their possible execution tonight.

"They asked after supper if they could see each other tomorrow morning," Warden Wilfred L. Denno said last night. He added that he had approved the request.

The husband-wife spy team learned around 5:30 p. m. (EST) yesterday that for the fourth time a scheduled date for their execution would pass with them still alive.

The electric chair had been tested. The executioner was on the prison grounds. All leaves had been cancelled for prison guards and the full complement of 200 men was either on duty or on call against possible demonstrations by sympathizers.

All but the final preparations for the executions, such as shaving of the prisoners' heads, had been made.

Then, an hour after the prison dinner had been served, a bulletin came over radio loudspeakers in the death house where the Rosenbergs and 12 other persons, all men, are awaiting execution.

Minutes later, Denno personally took confirmation of the bulletin to the Rosenbergs.

"I guess they were relieved," Denno said, "but neither one showed much emotion either way."

The day-long death watch was on the 14th anniversary of the Rosenbergs' wedding. Twice during the day they had been permitted to talk through a screen for an hour and a half as guards stood in corridors nearby.

The prison's Jewish chaplain, Rabbi Irving Koslowe of Mamaroneck, N. Y., was their only visitor yesterday.

No demonstrations were reported in Ossing last night, although thousands of Rosenberg sympathizers lobbied and paraded in Washington.

Canada Refuses To Support ROKs If They Persist

ORONO, Ont. (AP)—Foreign Minister Lester B. Pearson said last night that Canadian troops in Korea will not be used to support any fighting the South Koreans may launch against the North Koreans after an armistice.

Pearson, who also is President of the U. N. General Assembly, told a political campaign rally:

"We are under no obligation to support or participate in any operation brought on by the government of the Republic of South Korea and not by decision of the United Nations."

Of the South Korean release of prisoners of war this week, Pearson later commented to reporters: "We must condemn the last government of the Republic of Korea which might prejudice an armistice agreement, which we would be the first step in bringing about peace and unification of that unhappy land."

Pearson declined comment on whether Canadian troops would be used in any roundup of the escaping POWs.

Police Fear Concrete Slab Is a Shroud, But It's a Slab

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP)—Veteran Buffalo policemen, remembering the gang-rules days of prohibition when plain and fancy homicide was in fashion, hurried to a West End house yesterday to inspect what somebody said was a "concrete kimono."

To workmen remodeling the house it was just another concrete slab they found beneath the first floor of the cellar-less dwelling. It was about 5 feet long, 2 1/2 feet wide, and about 30 inches deep.

Egad! About the size of a small coffin!

Somebody called the cops. Even Police Commissioner Michael Neppel raced to the scene.

Sledge hammers would do no good. A detail from a nearby garage went to work on the slab with air guns while police looked on, expecting any minute to find the remains of some long lost gangster.

Soon the things looked like Swiss cheese — holes clean through it from every angle.

The concrete slab was just a concrete slab.

Color photographs, better for wartime camouflage detection, are made in quick time and as easily as black-and-white prints, by a new process. Basis of the new method is a pre-hardener, which permits the processing to be done at 80 degrees Fahrenheit, instead of the 68 to 70 degrees ordinarily used.

AF Cancels All C-124 Flights For Check-up

TOKYO (AP)—All giant C-124 Globemasters flying the airlift between Japan and Korea were grounded today pending an investigation of history's greatest air disaster which killed 129 American servicemen yesterday.

Air Force crews still worked at the grisly task of identifying the bodies of 122 airmen and Army Engineers and seven plane crewmen who perished in the crash of a Globemaster near here yesterday. There were no survivors.

Most of the victims were headed back to battle stations in Korea after brief rest leaves.

Names of the dead were withheld. As a result, news agencies swamped with calls from frantic relatives of men who had written home that they were headed for leave in Japan. But no names were released.

Presumably none of the victims were men whose leaves had been cut short because of the emergency created by South Korea's release of thousands of anti-Communist prisoners in Korea.

The Globemaster crashed about three minutes after taking off in murky weather from Tachikawa Air Base, 25 miles west of Tokyo. Air Force investigators were flying to Japan from the U. S. to try to discover the cause.

US Seizes Second Ship In Drive Against Non-US Ownership

LONG BEACH (AP)—The federal government has seized a second ship here this week in its drive against non-American ownership of war surplus vessels.

The 16,500-ton tankship Destiny was seized yesterday on charges that its registration violates federal shipping laws. The seizure took place after the tanker discharged 113,000 barrels of crude oil, brought from Fao, Iraq, and consigned to the Richfield Oil Corp.

A libel action has been filed in federal court against the Destiny, claiming that it lacks 75 per cent American ownership as required by war surplus ships sold by the U. S. government. The vessel allegedly is owned by a Chinese syndicate.

Last Monday the tanker McKitt, trick Hills was seized in Long Beach Harbor.

Troubles in the Mail

STATEN ISLAND, N. Y. (AP)—The youth in court here said he had obeyed the judge and sent a letter to his father in Manhattan asking him to appear at the trial.

Why wasn't the father here? He didn't get the letter. The youth had the only key to the family mail box.

The judge ordered him to send the key to his father—and not by mail, either.

WWI French Ace Dies, Once Knocked Down 6 German Planes in Hour

PARIS (AP)—Col. Rene Fonck, World War I French air ace, died unexpectedly yesterday at his home here. He was 59 years old. The cause of death was not announced.

Fonck was credited with 75 air victories during World War I. In one of his greatest exploits, he knocked down six German planes in one hour.

In 1926, he tried to become the first man to fly the Atlantic non-stop but his plane crashed and burned on the takeoff. Fonck narrowly escaped death.

The holder of several government posts since World War I, Fonck took a leading part in setting up passenger airlines in the French North African protectorates of Morocco and Algeria.

Sailors Spend Break In Jail And Enjoy It

ROCKWOOD, Tenn. (AP)—Two youthful sailors—both Korea veterans and both AWOL—are spending their unofficial vacation in the Rockwood jail—both loving it.

The Navy was never like this: Roane county has made them honorary citizens. They go swimming every day. They can't handle all the invitations to Sunday school and church last Sunday.

"This is the best town we've ever been in," they agree.

It all started in San Diego, Calif., on June 1 when SI-C Charles H. Robinson, 21, of Knoxville, Tenn., and PI-C Roy Lee Austin, 19, of Wilson, Okla., got to talking at the San Diego Naval Base.

"I said to Roy 'Let's go to Tennessee,'" says Robinson.

"Don't say that unless you mean it," Austin replied, and as Robinson tells it, "We took off without a red cent or a cigarette."

They hitchhiked the 3,000 miles from San Diego to Knoxville in 55 hours, and stayed in Knoxville about 10 days, Robinson said.

On the way back, he added, "We ran out of money in Rockwood and decided to give up and let the Navy take us back."

Policeman Avery Billings notified Navy officials in Memphis, who said they'd be here in a day or so. The sailors have been here now for a week and Billings decided the jail was too cramped for an indefinite stay.

"I questioned them," Billings explained, "and found they were just typical American boys who had decided to take a trip home."

"So I unlock the jail door at 9 a. m. every morning and they report back at 9 p. m. each night to be locked up again."

Robinson, who served with the Air Force in Korea before joining the Navy, and Austin, who was aboard a cargo attack ship during his tour of duty in Korean waters, put it this way:

"We'll probably have to spend 42 days in the brig—three days for each day we were AWOL—when we return. But we would gladly take six months 'punishment' in life brig in Rockwood."

Rosenbergs Gain 24 Hours As Supreme Court Recesses

Action Stops The Executions Of Atom Spies

WASHINGTON, June 18.—Atom spies Julius and Ethel Rosenberg won at least 24 more hours of life as the Supreme Court recessed tonight until 10 a. m., CST, tomorrow without a decision on their fate.

The high court announced its decision to postpone action on a stay of execution for the condemned couple at 4:29 p. m. CST—only 4½ hours before the Rosenbergs would have paid the supreme penalty had a ruling been made against them.

Thus the hotly controversial stay granted yesterday by Justice William O. Douglas, and weighed at length by the full court in extraordinary session today, remained in force for the time being.

The nine justices debated four hours in secrecy before postponing overnight their decision on a Justice Department motion to throw out the Douglas order and thus let the electrocutions take place at Sing Sing Prison.

Associate Justice Harold Burton mounted the bench alone to announce the postponement in these words:

"The court will stand in recess until tomorrow at 12 noon (10 a. m. CST.)."

If the court overrides Douglas tomorrow, the Rosenbergs can be executed tomorrow night or Saturday night.

Should the court go along with Douglas, the executions will be postponed while federal courts in New York decide whether the death sentence was properly imposed following the conviction of the New Yorkers on charges of wartime passing of U. S. atomic secrets to the Russians.

Thousands Demand Clemency

Tonight's decision, adding fresh suspense to the spy drama that has stirred world opinion, came as demonstrators for the Rosenbergs massed in the streets of the capital—thousands strong. Carrying signs that demanded clemency, they started a march on the White House minutes before Burton announced the postponement.

President Eisenhower already has refused to interfere with the Rosenberg's death sentence. It was his attorney general, Herbert Brownell Jr., who yesterday filed the motion to overrule Douglas' stay of execution, thus bringing the high court judges back from their summer recess.

Brownell was standing over a new ticker news suite in the Justice Department when the news came in that the court had postponed action. Just then an aide told the President was calling on the phone. Brownell went into his office without comment.

A few minutes later FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover left his own suite and joined the attorney general in Brownell's office.

At day—ironically, it was the Rosenbergs' 14th wedding anniversary—suspense had mounted on the hours which could have been the couple's last hours ticked away.

The almost unprecedented summer session of the court, the demonstrations at the White House and the Capitol, the rumbling echoes of controversy in other quarters here and abroad had made the Rosenbergs storm center of a far-fung controversy.

The black-robed justices left their high bench at 2:32 p. m. EST, after hearing three hours of argument—some of it hot-tempered—for and against reversing Douglas' action.

Douglas Questions Lawyers

Douglas, who flew back from Western Pennsylvania to take part in the decision of the court as a whole upon his own action, took an active role in the questioning of the lawyers.

He said at one point he never had doubted that the court can, if it chooses, overrule him—even through the law under which he granted the stay of execution makes no mention of such an action by the entire court.

In Congress, a motion by Rep. Wheeler (D-Ga.), to impeach Douglas for "high crimes and misdemeanors," as a result of his granting the stay, was laid formally before the House Judiciary Committee. Chairman Reed (R-Ill.) said it would be referred to a sub-committee.

Girls' State Opens At Fulton On Sunday

FULTON, June 18.—The 12th annual Missouri Girls' State opens here Sunday with a record enrollment of 342 high school juniors from all parts of the state.

The State, similar to Boys State, held this week at Warrensburg, is sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary.

Sessions will be held on the campus of William Woods College. Here they will study government and elect officers of mythical cities, counties and the state. Friday they will visit Jefferson City and hold sessions in the Capitol.

The staff under the director, Mrs. Harry R. Mayo, Trenton, will arrive Saturday to complete preliminary arrangements.

Counterspy Names Red Who'd Kill McCarthy

WASHINGTON, June 18 (AP)—A former FBI counterspy dramatically named a man beside him at a Senate hearing today as a Communist "goon" who boasted he had orders to assassinate Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.).

Joseph D. Mazzei, for some two years an FBI undercover operator in the Communist Party, testified under oath that Lou Bortz proudly announced at a secret Communist meeting in Pittsburgh last Dec. 4 he had been assigned to liquidate the senator. Bortz quickly refused on grounds of possible self incrimination to say whether Mazzei's story was true.

Rayburn Says He Backs Ike On Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The Eisenhower administration opened its first major foreign policy battle in the House today with a pledge of full support from Democratic Leader Rayburn of Texas.

Opening debate on the explosive foreign aid program, Rep. Vorys (R-Ohio) declared the main issue will be: "Does Congress have confidence in the President?"

Vorys, ranking majority member of the foreign affairs committee, said the five billion dollars authorization measure marks "the first big foreign policy test for a Republican Congress in a Republican administration for over 22 years."

But a fight to cut the already shorn measure by a billion dollars was promised by Rep. Lawrence H. Smith, Wisconsin Republican who said he and some other members felt the program would not be impaired by such a reduction.

The bill would authorize the spending of up to $4,998,732,500 on foreign economic and military aid during the 12 months starting July 1. This is 476 million dollars less than President Eisenhower proposed as an "honest" minimum and $2,602,000,000 less than former President Truman recommended in his January budget.

Rayburn, who was House Speaker in the Truman administration, promised Eisenhower at a White House luncheon meeting that he would support the President's full request for $5,474,000,000.

"I stand with you on foreign aid," Rayburn said he told the President, in whatever amount the Chief Executive thinks is correct.

As the House debate began, Rep. Burleson (D-Tex.) lost a preliminary skirmish to put off all consideration of foreign aid until next year. Burleson cited "unsettled world conditions," but his move was defeated 340-25 on a roll call vote.

County Court Lets Contracts For King Bill Road Repairs

Thursday morning the Pettis County Court received bids and let contracts for work on county roads under the King Bill road program at an estimated $51,500. The projects are referred to by code number 33, representing the year started and completed, and the following number is the designation of the specific improvement.

Project 33-8, which calls for improvement of a 3.25 mile strip four miles west of Spring Fork, was let to the Colvin and Franken Construction Co., for $100 per yard.

Project 33-9, calls for improvement of a 3.5 mile strip one-fourth mile north of Reaman and was let to the Colvin and Franken Construction Company for $120 per yard.

Project 33-15, which calls for improvement of a 3.1 mile strip one mile east of Newland, was let to the T and O Lime and Rock Company for $2.35 per yard.

Allies Smear Red Attacks On 2 Fronts

SEOUL, Friday, June 19 (AP)—More than 4,000 Chinese Communists launched new pre-armistice attacks yesterday on key hills in Central and East Korea and were hurled back with heavy losses.

While reports flew that details had been agreed on for an armistice, and Communist front line loudspeakers boomed that "The War is over," the Chinese struck hill positions held by South Koreans and Greeks.

The Reds ran into a storm of U. S. tank and artillery fire at Outpost Harry on the Central Front, where they sent 3,000 troops down the valleys and up the hill held by the Greeks.

Chopped up, they fell back with 120 dead and 480 wounded, the Eighth Army reported.

Further east, at the western end of a front where they had hammered out two-mile gains in an offensive early this week, 500 or more Communists knocked South Koreans from a hill southeast of Finger Ridge.

About 25 miles to the east, a Red force of similar size drove South Koreans from M-1 Ridge southwest of Christmas Hill.

The South Koreans counterattacked at both Finger Ridge and Christmas Hill and recaptured both positions.

The remainder of the 155-mile front was quiet, but the air war stayed hot.

U. S. Sabrejet pilots destroyed five Red MIGs and damaged four others in dog fights near the Manchurian border.

Three small Communist planes approached Seoul early today but did not reach the city or drop any bombs. The South Korean capital was blacked out for more than an hour.

One of the MIGs fell under the fire of Maj. James Jabara, Wichita, Kan., first jet ace of the Korean War now on his second combat flying tour here. It was his 12th kill. Jabas is the leading active ace in Korea.

Capt. Ralph Parr, Apple Valley, Calif., shot down two, his fourth and fifth, to become the 33rd jet ace in the Korean War.

Wheat Continues Rapid Advance On Grain Board

CHICAGO, June 18.—Wheat futures continued their advance of the previous session on the Board of Trade today, but gains were not as great.

Expectations of flour sales, Korean trade news, and the government's action to ease the storage problem in the Southwest, all were bullish influences in wheat.

The strength in wheat aided other grains. Corn moved up around the previous close after being lower all day. Only soybeans couldn't take advantage of the upward movement.

Wheat closed 3¼ to 4½ cents higher, corn ¼ cent higher to ¼ cent lower, oats 1½ cents higher to ½ cent lower, rye 1¼ to 2¼ cents higher, and soybeans off 1¼ to 4¼ cents.

Indications that trade negotiations may be hampered by the South Korean action in releasing anti-Red prisoners of war caused buying and short covering in wheat.

Boonville Lets Work On Factory Building

BOONVILLE, June 18.—Contracts for the construction of a factory building for the McGraw Electric Company have been let by the Boonville Industrial Corporation.

The corporation raised $200,000 with which to provide the structure, 350 by 120 feet, for use of the electric company under a 10 year lease at an annual rental of $14,000.

The W. J. Cochran Construction Company of Boonville was awarded the basic contract for $168,476. Grading of the site is expected to begin within a few days.

County Court Lets Contracts For King Bill Road Repairs

Project 33-16, calls for improvement of a 2.6 mile strip from Postal to the Saline County line was let to the H. A. Harms Construction Company for $1.90 per yard.

Project 33-17, which calls for improvement of a 2.3 mile strip just west of Newland, was let to the T and O Lime and Rock Company for $2.10 per yard.

The final project 33-18, which calls for improvement of a three-mile strip just east of US Highway 65 at the Hughesville turn off, was let to the T and O Lime and Rock Company for $1.90 per yard.

The work will be completed within several months.

The bids, which were due Thursday, were opened at 10 a. m. Thursday morning and read to the court by County Clerk Jim Green in the presence of a number of the contractors, who had submitted bids for the work.

WHERE EAST BERLINERS RIOTED—The map locates the section of East Berlin where workers demonstrated against Soviet rule in front of the East German government headquarters. Bulk of workers converged on Unter Den Linden in the direction of the Lustgarten. Two daring men climbed the famed old Brandenburg Gate and hauled down the Red flag. At Potsdamer Platz a gang forced wooden sticks into the gun of a Red tank and hurled big stones onto the tracks of other tanks. Gunfire was heard at Leipziger Platz and several other points. ## West Demands Russians End Berlin Terror

BERLIN, June 18 (AP)—The Western Powers demanded tonight that the Soviet Army end its military terror in East Berlin.

They denounced a Russian firing squad's execution of a jobless West Berlin truck driver as "an act of brutality which will shock the conscience of the world."

The United States, Britain and France dramatically intervened here as Soviet armored forces beat down a workers' revolt which had spread throughout East Germany in a single day.

Protest strikes were still waged by unarmed Germans in many cities from the Oder to the Elbe River. Nine were under Soviet martial law.

The three Allies called on the Russians to lift immediately the "harsh restrictions" imposed on East Berlin, where at least 16 anti-Communists were slain and more than 200 wounded yesterday.

They demanded immediate re-establishment of "free circulation" in the city, whose Eastern sector has been sealed off by 200 Soviet tanks and 10,000 armored troops.

Reds Execute Goettling

The Western protest to the Russian came eight hours after they announced 35-year-old Willi Goettling's execution. Millions of Germans had feared that it was the prelude to a ghastly blood bath in the Soviet zone.

It was made public almost simultaneously with a Communist party broadcast admitting that the workers' rebellion was widespread in East Germany and promising "to be more just" to them in the future.

Somewhere behind red-flagged Brandenburg Gate, on the border between East and West Berlin, a firing squad riddled the first German condemned to death by a Soviet drumhead court for the workers' uprising against Red government.

Maj. Gen. P. T. Dibrova, ruling a million East Berliners by martial law, announced the execution with propaganda fanfare.

He charged that the victim, Willi Goettling, was a resident of West Berlin who had "worked on order of a foreign intelligence service" and "participated in the violent banditry yesterday against the organs of power" in the Russian sector.

He left open the question of whether more executions would follow.

More Than 100 In Jail

More than 100 East Berliners, accused by Communist informers of joining the demonstrations, were jailed.

But hundreds of thousands apparently stayed home today despite orders by the East German government to return to work immediately.

Official Communist proclamations admitted that only a fraction of the city's Eastern industrial workers—gripped yesterday by a general strike that mushroomed through the rank and file of Red-run unions—resumed any activity today. Sabotage was hinted at several plants. Factory chimneys visible from the Western sectors were bare of civilians. But Soviet tanks and armored cars moved about.

Edward Ferguson, 120 East Pettis, suffered a fractured right leg in a fall from the back end of a pickup truck Monday.

Allies Press Roundup Of Freed Prisoners

US Rips Rhee For Violating UN Authority

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The United States accused South Korean President Syngman Rhee today of violating "the authority of the United Nations Command" by releasing thousands of prisoners of war just as U. N. truce with the Reds appeared about ready for signing.

Secretary of State Dulles announced that President Eisenhower was communicating the American attitude to Rhee along with the declaration that the United States has conducted armistice negotiations in good faith and is continuing to act in good faith.

The grave uncertainty over the truce outlook resulting from Rhee's stunning action last night led to a series of top-level conferences here during the day.

Administration leaders were reported doing everything possible to bring the situation under control and minimize the dangers that the truce would be wrecked. Obviously one key to the future was whether the Reds wanted to seize upon this incident either to stall or block an armistice or press the U. N. for new concessions.

P.W.s Part Of 50,000

The prisoners whom Rhee released are part of a total of almost 50,000 who have declared they would resist repatriation to their Red homelands in North Korea and China. For more than a year, the question of what to do with them tied up truce negotiations.

The Communists insisted they must be sent home; the U. N. Command took the position they must be given a free choice.

Recently the deadlock was broken by a compromise agreement which the United States asserted preserved the principal of voluntary repatriation. The formula provides for the creation of a "neutral" commission to take charge of the POWs for a period.

During this period Communists would be permitted to send agents to the POW camps to try to persuade the men to go home. Those still refused would be placed in the hands of a political conference, and if they persisted in their refusal, eventually would be freed.

Ike Talks With Congressmen

Eisenhower conferred first today with members of Congress even as news reports raised the total of POWs released to 25,000 and made clear the magnitude of the conflict between the United Nations and South Korean plans.

There was speculation that Rhee's aim was to disrupt the truce and achieve Korean unification through continuation of the war. Word of Rhee's action came as a stunning blow to official Washington because authorities had become convinced that Rhee would go along with the truce despite his protests.

Jobless Ranks Swell After New KC Strike

KANSAS CITY, June 18.—The ranks of strikers and those jobless due to work stoppages were swelled today by a walkout of nearly 800 hourly employees of Black, Sivalis & Bryson, Inc., steel plant.

The workers authorized the strike yesterday after a breakdown in wage negotiations. Kenneth W. Lineberry, president of the firm, said the management had offered an increase of 8½ cents an hour, while the United Steelworkers of America, Local No. 1392, had asked 9½ cents.

About 3000 salaried workers remained on the job.

An estimated 25,000 persons in Kansas City are jobless because of a strike in the construction industry which began five weeks ago.

129 GIs Perish Near Tokyo In World's Worst Air Crash

TOKYO, Friday, June 19 (AP)—The world's worst air disaster killed every one of 129 U. S. servicemen aboard a giant Globemaster in a fiery crash near Tokyo yesterday.

The great, two-decked C-124, its engines failing after a take-off for Korea, was trying desperately to get back to Tachikawa airbase, 25 miles west of Tokyo. It never made it.

The Globemaster went into a flat spin, staggered, and plummeted nose down into a muddy farm. Japanese farmers said there was a terrific flash and a roar as the 3,000 gallons of gasoline aboard burst into flame. Then the dead and dying were incinerated in a towering funeral pyre.

"The smell of burned oil and human flesh was terrible," AP correspondent Stan Carter reported from the scene. "The bodies were terribly burned and mangled."

"The fire was so hot it ignited magnesium metal in the plane's framework and part of it burned like a thermite bomb."

The rain kept coming down, hissing in the hot steel that was tangled up in giant balls of wreckage.

The salvage crews were working in leg-deep mud. It was like

Tipton Soldier Suffers Severe Battle Injuries

Mr. and Mrs. Urban J. Vestgen of Tipton were notified late Wednesday by the War Department that their son, Pvt. Connie Vestgen, suffered serious wounds in last Sunday's Korean fighting.

According to notification, Pvt. Vestgen was hit in the right thigh and lower left leg. He had been on the front lines about two weeks, serving with the 65th Regiment of the Third Infantry Division.

Pvt. Vestgen has been in the army for about one year and went overseas last January.

Rhee Can See Little Benefit In Aid Pledge

SEOUL, Friday, June 19.—President Syngman Rhee today disclosed that he told President Eisenhower offers of American aid to South Korea hold little inducement as they "come as a price for our acceptance of the armistice." He told Eisenhower, too, that the armistice was being reached in an "atmosphere of appeasement."

Rhee made public his reply to Eisenhower June 6 letter in which the U. S. Chief Executive pledged increased economic and military aid to South Korea and promised to negotiate for a mutual defense pact after Rhee agreed to a truce.

"Your generous offers . . . are highly appreciated by all Korean people for they are what we badly need," Rhee wrote. "But when such offers come as a price for our acceptance of the armistice as we know it, they cannot but have little inducement, because, as I have said before, to accept such an armistice is to accept a death warrant."

Rhee told Eisenhower he does "not question the sincerity with which you kindly promised to use your authority to bring about a mutual defense pact between our two nations" after an armistice, "but if it is tied up with the armistice almost to a vanishing point."

Rhee told the President "we have nothing to say" if American forces quit fighting in Korea, or withdraw altogether.

Then Rhee went on to explain his bitterness toward any armistice that would leave Korea divided with Chinese Red troops still occupying the North—a bitter indignation, because, as I have said before, to accept such an armistice is to accept a death warrant."

"In the first year of this three-year-old war, both the United States and the United Nations alternately and repeatedly announced, as the war objectives, the establishment of a unified, independent and democratic Korea and the punishment of the aggressors," Rhee said.

It was at the time of the United Nations drive to the Yalu that they made these announcements so that we naturally took them as they declared war objectives.

"But later, when the Communist forces proved to be stronger than expected, the United Nations statesmen took to the interpretation that it had never been intended to unify Korea by war."

Fire Kills Illinois Man

Local Phone Operators Return To Their Jobs

The telephone operators at 11:10 p. m. Thursday voted to return to their assignments at the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. at 6 a. m. Friday and voted to adjourn their mass meeting which was called at 9 a. m. Thursday.

The three stewards, Miss Mary Jane Williams, first steward, Mrs. Willa Mae Gillaspay, second steward, and Mrs. Mildred Jaeger, secretary—third steward, were instructed to meet with management representatives Friday and "iron out" difficulties over insufficient help.

At 9 a. m. the meeting of all members of the CWA-CIO was called to discuss the poor service being given the public due to insufficient telephone operators and the shortage of tricks. (A trick is where one operator works eight hours.) The meeting sessions were held in the morning, again in the afternoon, and resumed at 9:30 o'clock after the stewards had met with company representatives earlier in the evening and were promised better extra operators, according to the report given the union members by the three stewards.

At today's meeting with the company representatives, discussion will center on how many tricks will be added and how many operators will be hired.

(Details of the action Thursday will be found on Page 6, Col. 4 and 5).

Notes from Public Library—

Summer Activities Featured In Special Books for Week

Summer activities are featured in the library's special offerings this week, with a new book by Harry Zarchy heading the list. It is "Let's Fish," and is intended to be of great help to experienced fishermen as well as the beginner to whom it is mainly addressed. It was written in answer to many questions about fishing to aid those people who would like to fish, but don't know how, where or when. Fishing is wonderful recreation for anyone, says Mr. Zarchy, for it gives Mother and Dad a chance to get away from everyday chores and annoyances and allows them to relax completely. Young people are introduced to an activity that can be carried on the rest of their lives, and fishing teaches youngsters how to get along with other people, and also engenders good sportsmanship. "Let's Fish" contains information on equipment, casting, live baits, lures, tackle making and repair and how to identify fish.

Another volume of advice on "Fishing Is Fun" by A. H. Garhart, with generous use made of line drawings for illustrating correct casting techniques. Mr. Garhart emphasizes lake and stream fishing in his book, which he says is an integral part of successful fishing.

"Your First Boat" by David Klein, tells how to choose and use various kinds of boats. Although the book makes interesting reading for anyone with an interest in sailing, its main point is valuable advice to a prospective boat purchaser. Mr. Klein says he can afford one, and he shows how you can buy a boat for as little as $35 and keep her on the water for no more money than you would spend on your favorite hobby.

Camping trips, whether by motor car or any other means, can turn into successful and memorable vacations, according to Homer Halstead, author of a readable and entertaining book called "How to Live in the Woods." Menus, grocery lists, packing lists, how to make camp, build fires, death was attributed to a heart attack.

Mr. Stover's home was in Independence.

The body was taken to the Kidwell Funeral Home in Versailles and will be taken to Independence, where funeral services will be held Tuesday afternoon.

Burial will be in the Mound Grove Cemetery.

It was back in 1907 when Mrs. L. V. Lindemuth was last in Missouri and when she flew in from Centralia, Wash. She flew in a body was dripping with perspiration and complaining about the terribly hot weather, but she did not think it was bad at all.

Mrs. Lindemuth, who is here for a visit with her niece, Mrs. John Murrell, and Mrs. Ann, 64, East Tenth, 92, and she made her first plane trip when she came back here for a visit.

She really liked riding on the plane and when she goes back to her home in Washington, how do you think she is going? Why, by plane, of course. She never knew how much fun it was to ride on a plane before and now she doesn't want to travel any other way.

Betty Murrell and Ann went up to Kansas City to meet her and off the plane she got just as peppy as if she were 16, and she enjoyed the ride on down to Sedalia in the car. In fact, she is enjoying everything.

Missouri looks mighty good to her, but different, as she remembers it. She was surprised at the number of brick and stone houses in Kansas City, particularly the stone ones. "They don't build houses out of stone in Washington," she said.

Everything about the state is wonderful and she is doing something to the people around her. They are so amazed at her gaiety, her energy and her outlook on life they have almost forgotten that it is hot.

Illegal Fish Assists In Captor's Arrest

TUSCUMBIA, Mo. — An illegally-taken walleye gave an assist to a conservation agent recently in overhauling an offender trying to get away with some out-of-season fishing.

Agent Warren Davis reports that he surprised the angler in Big Tavern Creek fishing for walleyes before the season opened on May 20. The angler raced off downstream but a two-pound walleye on the stringer at his belt kept digging its fins into his legs every third jump.

With the walleye's cooperation, Davis was able to over-haul the offender and took him for violation. He also had to render first aid for several fish punctures. Davis said the pain caused by the court assessment won't be remembered nearly as long as the fish's revenge.

A native of Cleveland, O., where he was graduated cum laude from Western Reserve University, he was ordained at Hebrew College, Cincinnati, in 1934, and came to Sedalia, which he still calls home.

In 1945 the Friedmans went to Wyoming Valley, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., from Austin, Texas, where they have both taken part in all activities of the Wyoming Valley Community.

In an editorial from one of the papers in tribute to Rabbi Friedman, it said in part: "His eloquence has been heard from many of his own faith, as well as those of other faiths. His name as a speaker is also a familiar one to the many service clubs and other assemblies which he has addressed. Wilkes College, Wyoming Seminary and Academy of Jewish Studies of the Jewish Community Center have known him as an able instructor. He represented the Jewish Chautauque Society as a speaker at Sky Lake Methodist Camp."

"Rabbi Friedman once told the Wise Men's Club at Central YMCA that we cannot be neutral in politics, crime, juvenile delinquency, nor in the breakdown of our social situations, lying on the persecution of minorities, and the like. He said that he would not be a neutral in any of these matters."

He has lived according to his belief while in Wilkes-Barre. His evaluation of his services to the community "readily shows."

"Mrs. Friedman the editorial said, 'Mrs. Friedman has shared in many community undertakings in many directions. As they of away Rabbi and Mrs. Friedman have borne with them the arduous preparation of the community.'

While head of the Beth El congregation at Wyoming Valley, Rabbi Friedman was actively identified with civic, religious and community activities. He was chairman of the National Conference of Christians and Jews, in which capacity he occupied scores of Protestant pulpits in interest of brotherhood, chairman of the Jewish Community Relations Council of Wyoming Valley, Jewish Committee, director of the American Red Cross and Committee of 100 for industrial expansion of Wyoming Valley.

He also served as chairman of the mental health committee, Wyoming Valley Community Council; Luzerne County Defense Council; co-chairman, clergy committee, "Community Chest," speakers' chairman United Jewish Appeal, instructor of Old Testament and Comparative Religions, Wilkes College; executive committee, American Jewish Committee and member of its National Supervisory Committee of Community Relations and rabbinical counselor, representing Jewish Chautauque Society at Sky Lake Methodist Camp.

Keating Goes For a Ruling On Tom Clark

WASHINGTON (P)—Rep. Keating (R-N.Y.) goes before the House Judiciary Committee today for a ruling on whether congressional probers can force Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark to testify.

Clark yesterday turned down an invitation to appear before Keating's judicial subcommittee. Such an appearance would involve the Supreme Court's independence, Clark said, adding that a justice must avoid the strife of public affairs and partisan politics.

But Keating, in a statement after Clark's letter to him was made public by other sources, said he saw no question involving the prerogatives of the branches of government.

Rep. Hillings (R-Calif.), a subcommittee member, called Clark's refusal "unfortunate" and said the group will meet in closed session late today to decide whether to subpoena Clark.

Hillings' comment came before Keating said he wanted a "authoritative" settled whether a committee of Congress has the right to call a judge before it. Keating added:

"The matters upon which the committee desires to interrogate Justice Clark have no relation whatever to his judicial duties."

Keating's subcommittee has been investigating the Justice Department, which Clark headed as attorney general from 1945 until he was named to the Supreme Court by former President Truman in 1949.

From time to time, the subcommittee has raised questions about Clark's actions as attorney general in tax and other cases.

"The subcommittee should agree," Clark wrote Keating, "that the courts must be kept free from public controversy. . . I must forego my personal inclination to appear before your subcommittee."

Clark said that, of seven cases investigated by the committee, three were subjects of committee probes by the 80th Congress. In each of these three, he said, his actions were found to be in the Peyton Ford, deputy attorney general under Clark, told the subcommittee under oath yesterday no such agreement existed to his knowledge. But he said attorneys for the physician, Dr. Olaf Olson, might have thought they had an agreement through a misunderstanding.

Ford said Victor Anderson, U. S. attorney at Minneapolis in 1947, recommended dropping criminal prosecution and settling the Olson case administratively. Ford said Clark's explanation of a department policy, against compromising tax cases while criminal charges were pending, was conveyed to Anderson.

The version Anderson got was that the department could not consider settlement of the tax claim "until there was a plea to one count of the indictment," Ford said, adding:

"I can see that it might be construed . . . as an agreement."

T. Lamar Caudle, ousted by Truman as assistant attorney general, had testified Sen. Langer (R-ND) reported the settlement was agreed upon after conferences Langer had with Ford and Clark.

Ford agreed with Caudle that the settlement—after Olson pleaded guilty to the criminal charge and was fined $10,000 and given a suspended one-year prison sentence—was "unusual." But Ford expressed the belief the government "got good results."

Switzerland May Retract Truce Service

BERNE, Switzerland (P)—Swiss Foreign Minister Max Petitpierre said today that "new difficulties" in Korea may lead Switzerland to reconsider her willingness to serve on the projected neutral commission to supervise a truce in the war-torn peninsula.

Petitpierre told the upper house of the Swiss Parliament the release of anti-Communist North Korean prisoners of war by South Korean officials "considerably changes the situation."

Only last week, the Swiss government reversed a previous stand and said it would serve on the Korean armistice and POW commission regardless of whether South Korea accepted the armistice terms now being hammered out by representatives of the Communists and the U. N.

Petitpierre today said Switzerland had agreed to serve on the understanding that all war prisoners in South Korea were under complete control of the U. N. Command.

McCarthy Cheers Rhee For Freeing Prisoners

WASHINGTON, June 18 (P)—Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) differed with the Eisenhower administration today on President Syngman Rhee's release of thousands of prisoners in South Korea.

McCarthy told reporters, "freedom-loving people throughout the world should applaud the action of Syngman Rhee." He said Rhee's decision must have been based on the question: "Why should anti-Communists be kept by us in prison stockades?"

Blames Busy Schedule For Failure To File Income Tax Return

ST. LOUIS (P)—A St. Louis accountant, hoping to explain his failure to file a 1946 income tax return, told a federal jury here yesterday he was so busy making reports for clients he forgot to file his own.

Marion L. Langenberg testified the March 15 deadline slipped past before he knew it in 1947. He said he was so busy he was working 70 hours a week despite the fact he was "in bad shape" because of ill health.

Federal Judge George H. Moore interrupted Langenberg during his testimony, clearing the jury from the courtroom to remind Langenberg he was under oath as he blamed a mental lapse for his failure to file the tax return.

Langenberg is charged with evading $1,665 in taxes. The government says he received $13,340 in fees in 1946 but reported only $5,540.

Stan Musial Predicts He'll Escape Slump, But Can't Say How

ST. LOUIS (P)—Stan Musial predicted today he will pull out of the most prolonged batting slump of his career and hit over .300 for the 14th consecutive season.

The St. Louis Cardinal star said he still hasn't found the answer to the slump and has no private problems to blame it on.

"If I can get close to .300 before the all-star game (July 14), I still might make it the second half of the season," Musial said. His present average of .250 is nearly 100 points lower than his lifetime average.

As for the prison break itself, Rhee's action is less incredible than this claim of the whole long prison muddle, going clear back to the Kojie rice. Responsible American authorities will probably have a lot of explaining to do about their laxity at this very critical point, and why, when the South Korean political climate like it is, South Korean guards were depended upon.

'Phone Operators Leave Jobs Here

Management Takes Over Switchboards Soon After Girls Leave to Attend Union Meeting; Union Asks More Workers Be Put On Duty

UNION STATEMENT

"There is a limit to the (physical) endurance and capacity of each and every individual," Mrs. Mildred Jaeger, secretary - third steward of the CWA-CIO Local No. 6301, said this morning with reference to the telephone operators leaving their job assignments to attend a mass meeting of the Local held at the Bothwell Hotel. "This is not a strike, nor is it a walkout. We were ordered, as members of the Local, to attend a meeting," she concluded.

Miss Mary Jane Williams, first steward of the local, said the shortage of operators was such the present girls could not give the proper service to which the public is entitled. "The insufficient help has caused delays in telephone service and the girls are tired of taking critical comments from the public for something over which they have no control."

It was explained by Miss Williams that expansion of business, in more accounts and more telephones, without additional help being authorized, has created the shortage.

Miss Williams said that the company has four schedules a year on which it sets up the hours the operators work. The recent schedule, presented June 3 to the girls, was not accepted by the Local, and they have been continuing on their usual schedule.

A meeting of the Local was held Wednesday night at which time the operators voted unanimously to reject the new schedule of hours presented, contending there is insufficient help for the business.

The spokeswoman also brought out this is the only dispute, the heat had no bearing on the meeting and the call for a mass meeting, which all members were ordered to attend. "The company explained recently to our satisfaction the reason they could not install air conditioning. They have tried to help the situation by placing with fans blowing over them and on the extreme hot day last week had cold lemonade for the girls to drink."

"At our meeting Wednesday night the members voted for the general meeting to be held at 9 a.m. Thursday, and the members were instructed to be present at that time."

"We are asking for a meeting with management and hope to have our problem settled as soon as possible," she stated.

Also attending the meeting were plant, construction, maintenance workers of the telephone company as well as several Western Electric employees who work at the telephone company building.

Mrs. Willa Mae Gillaspay, second steward in the Local, concurred with the statements of Miss Williams and Mrs. Jaeger.

Gasoline Price May Go Up; Phillips Pays More for Oil

HOUSTON (P)—You may soon be paying a penny more a gallon for gasoline for your car.

The added cent would be the industry's way of passing on to you the higher prices it began paying this week for crude oil in the field.

Phillips Petroleum Company started the crude oil price increase Monday by announcing it would raise 25 cents a barrel more. Other crude oil buyers have been falling in line, some with boosts even up to 35 cents a barrel, all week.

Those increases are for prices which the big oil companies pay for the crude oil which they then ship to their refineries. The crude is broken down into gasoline, kerosene, diesel fuel, motor oil and other products.

Yesterday came the first indication of how much of the increase will be passed on to the motorist at his service station. The Continental Oil Company, one of the largest petroleum marketers, was the first to increase prices of the refined products.

Continental posted tankwagon and cargo increases of about one cent a gallon on kerosene, one half cent on heating oils and 24 cents a barrel on residual fuel oils.

Tankwagon prices are wholesale prices. The penny advance of Continental's prices for crude was being paid a penny more a gallon for gasoline for your car.

House Ponders Foreign Aid Bill for 1954

WASHINGTON (P)—The House goes to work today on a controversial $4,998,732,500 foreign aid bill for next year, and Rep. Lawrence H. Smith (R-Wis.) said cuts of another one billion dollars will be proposed.

The measure now carries 476 million dollars less than President Eisenhower urged Congress to accept as an "honest" minimum. It is $2,602,000,000 less than recommended by former President Truman.

Voting on proposals for deeper cuts may start tomorrow. The bill is only a ceiling for the year starting July 1. Actual appropriations will come up later.

A fight is likely also on an administration-proposed amendment to withhold more than one billion dollars of military aid to Europe until an international army is approved.

Smith said in an interview a four-member minority of the House Foreign Affairs Committee will propose cuts totaling one billion dollars, which they say will not impair the program.

Smith said the group will propose knocking out planned military aid to Japan and Spain, reducing global Point Four programs of technical aid, eliminating 100 million dollars each for economic aid to France and for research on special nontoxic weapons.

The group also will try to persuade Congress to postpone consideration of the actual appropriations until next year, because of "unsettled world conditions," Smith added. He said the administration has ample money to carry on the program in the meantime.

Rep. Richards of South Carolina, senior Democrat on the foreign affairs committee, said he expects bipartisan support for his proposal to earmark half of European military aid solely to the European Defense Community.

The EDC would permit rearming West Germany and taking its troops into a six-nation international army. Only West Germany has ratified the treaty.

The bill, which would shift new emphasis to the Far East, contains the first provisions for rearming Japan, under a bilateral treaty the administration proposes to conclude with Tokyo.

Uncovers 90-Year-Old Loyalty Oath Asked Of St. Louis Teachers

ST. LOUIS (P)—A 90-year-old loyalty oath required of St. Louis public school teachers and board of education officers, was uncovered accidentally today.

The oath was intended to "prevent the dissemination of disloyal sentiments through the public schools" at a time when Missouri was a Civil War battle ground.

Applicants for teaching jobs were 162 instructors in the school system—were required to pledge they would not give "aid and comfort" to enemies of the Union. They also were warned against joining activities of "secret organizations."

The oath, found in the 1864 annual report of the superintendent of schools, was discovered by Miss Elizabeth Golterman, director of the school system's division of audio-visual education. Miss Golterman was doing research on a student rally to raise military funds in 1864.

French Again Refuse Bid For Premiership

PARIS, Friday, June 19 (P)—The French National Assembly refused today to approve Andre Marie as premier, thus prolonging the governmental crises now in its 30th day.

Unofficial tabulations showed Marie got only 275 of the 314 votes needed for investiture.

Marie — political veteran who was Premier for about a month in 1948 and who has served in 10 of the 18 French Cabinets since World War II—was the fourth candidate to be turned down by the Assembly in the past month.

Marie will be held for all the children and their parents.

Four Hundred POW's Clash With Marines Near Inchon

SEOUL, Korea (P)—Four hundred anti-Communist North Korean prisoners broke from an Allied prison camp near Inchon early today after a bloody clash with U. S. Marine guards.

The prisoners, joining 25,000 others who had broken from four camps in South Korea yesterday, stamped through barbed wire fences in a hail of bullets from the Marines, who had just been rushed up to replace South Korean guards.

Camp authorities said 10 prisoners were killed and 93 wounded in a wild clash in the dark with the combat-tested Marines and U. S. Army soldiers. One Marine guard was wounded seriously.

The camp, four miles from Seoul's port city of Inchon, had been quiet throughout the day and on until shortly before midnight.

Then the 4,000 to 1,500 prisoners in the camp made their bid for freedom in the murky darkness. First they hurled stones, then charged the barbed wire surrounding the compound.

The Marines fired rifles and pistols in a wild melee. The wounded were taken to a hospital in Inchon harbor, at least 14 of them in serious condition.

Lt. Col. Alanson Leland, camp commander, estimated the number who escaped at 400, but said a head count could not be made until after daybreak.

Truck Hits Stopped Car In St. Joe; Kills One

ST. JOSEPH, June 18 (P)—Tragedy struck in the last hours of a vacation trip for a Tennessee party late today when an oil transport truck rocketed into a motor car on the outskirts of St. Joseph, killing one of the tourists and injuring three others.

Mrs. Dorothy Qualls, 26, Old Hickory, Tenn., died shortly after the crash.

Injured were: John W. Reynolds, 43, Goodlettsville, Tenn., lacerations of scalp and shock; Mrs. Reynolds, 37, deep laceration on skull, and Arch Qualls, 29, husband of the dead woman, lacerations on the head.

Mrs. Qualls was a sister of Mrs. Reynolds.

Prosecutor John Downs said the truck driver, James Roe, 35, Greene, Iowa, was being held in the Buchanan County Jail on an open charge.

The Tennessee group was returning from a trip to Yellowstone National Park and the car, driven by Reynolds, had stopped for a signal light on Highway 36. The transport smashed into the rear of the car.

State May Increase Differential On Cream

JEFFERSON CITY, June 18 (P)—The state commissioner of agriculture today called a public hearing for July 1 to find out whether the differential between the prices of No. 1 and No. 2 cream should be increased from three to five cents a pound.

Missouri's dairy law gives the commissioner that authority. The dairy industry and farm groups believe it will provide an incentive to improve cream quality.

L. C. Carpenter, state agricultural commissioner, said he understood butter from No. 1 cream has been moving well but butter from No. 2 cream has not. He said he thought the hearing would indicate producers of No. 2 cream could readily improve their product to a No. 1 basis.

The hearing will be held in the House of Representatives chamber in the Capitol here at 1 p.m.

House May Provide Relief For Cattlemen

WASHINGTON, June 18 (P)—Rep. Allen (R-Ill.) said today the House Agriculture Committee may consider some form of financial relief for cattlemen before the end of this session of Congress.

Allen said Chairman Hope (R-Kan.) told him the Agriculture Committee is concerned over the plight of cattlemen because of a decline in prices.

"It may be necessary," he told a reporter, "to provide some form of credit to keep them from going bankrupt."

Allen said he understood consideration also is being given to increasing purchases of beef for the armed forces and for the school lunch program to bolster the beef market.
